Goal
The goal of the SDDL project is to make postsecondary education accessible to a wide range of people and, in particular, to improve outcomes for students with disabilities. SDDL staff provide direct training for University of Hawai‘i faculty. The project also offers technical assistance nationwide via webinars and an online professional development program.

Topics
Trainings focus on Universal Design for Learning, Multiculturalism, and Mentoring. The project also conducts research and evaluation activities to measure project outcomes.

Funding
SSDL is funded by the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Postsecondary Education.

About the Center on Disability Studies
The mission of the University of Hawai‘i, Center on Disability Studies (CDS) is “to promote diverse abilities across the lifespan through interdisciplinary training, research, and service.” To accomplish this mission CDS sponsors many projects, which can be found on the CDS website at www.cds.hawaii.edu.

For more information:

Students with Disabilities as Diverse Learners
Steven Brown, Ph.D.
1776 University Avenue, UA 4-6, Honolulu, HI 96826
Associate Professor and Project Coordinator
E-mail: sebrown@hawaii.edu
Phone: 808-956-0996
www.ist.hawaii.edu